

the Botanical Artist

A detailed botanical illustration of a plant. The central stem is green and has several thin, reddish-brown tendrils extending from it. At the top, there are two large, heart-shaped green leaves with prominent veins and slightly wavy edges. In the middle of the stem, there is a cluster of small, bright orange, rounded berries. At the bottom, there is a large, pinkish-red flower with a complex, layered structure, possibly a spathe or a similar floral part.

JOURNAL OF THE AMERICAN SOCIETY OF BOTANICAL ARTISTS

JUNE 2024 | VOL 30 NO 2 | asba-art.org

CULTIVATING THE FIELD OF BOTANICAL ART SINCE 1994